In this seminar we will explore the differences between leaders and managers. Through an exploration of expert research and calling on the first-hand experience of seminar participants, we will actively try to answer several questions about leaders and managers such as:

Are leaders and managers different?
When is leadership more important than management and vice versa?
Are great leaders and managers made or born?
How have their roles changed as we continue in the 21st Century?
How do you become a great leader or manager?

Speaker: Dr. Stephen Betts, Ph.D
