Green Purchasing, also known as environmentally preferable purchasing (EPP), is the coordinated purchasing of goods and services to minimize impacts on human health and the natural environment. Alternatives exist for almost every product used that are less hazardous, save energy and water, and reduce waste. A simple first step is to purchase products made from recycled content that are themselves recyclable.

EPP may consider raw materials acquisition, production, manufacturing, packaging, distribution, reuse, operation, maintenance or disposal of the product or service.

This webinar will look at the latest trends and challenges in Green Purchasing (Environmentally Preferred Purchasing) in 2024 and forward. We will discuss growing local and global environmental concerns; “social responsibilities for local Governmental units and access to fiscally practical solutions.
